Presidents Report

(This is the report presented at the AGM)

We have had a very eventful twelve months and the club can be very proud of its achievements.

The club held the first Championship Show with Shane Thomas as judge. We had a good entry of over 50 Griffons and both the BIS and Runner up BIS were awarded to the bitches. The trophy table was admired and the show committee did an excellent job in organising the show.

The committee members and some extra helpers were at the grounds from 6.30 am and worked very hard to get the rings decorated, the canteen stocked and the trophies arranged.

Another success was our display at Dogs on Show in June 2013. We again had our pink and purple theme and our breed stand was one of the most colourful. Ros and Dave Finch were able to obtain a miniature sully which enhanced the stand and was a great addition to the Parade of breeds. A number of our members were able to visit the stand and say hello, bringing their pet Griffons for a wonderful day out.

Our Point score competition was well supported by members with most point score shows getting entries of between 17 – 25 Griffons – well above the usual Griffon entry. The judges frequently expressed their delight in such a large entry. At all times, the members have shown outstanding sportsmanship and camaraderie during the point score competition. As we had heard that our club had been nick named The Country Women’s Association we were pleased to have scones with jam and cream at a number of our point score shows

We had 2 Fun days scheduled over the past 12 months but unfortunately weather conditions caused them both to be cancelled. The first one was cancelled because of heavy rain and storms and the second one because of extreme heat (42 degrees) and a bush fire threat.

We probably do need to get more input from our non- showing members to find out what they would like the club to do for them. This is something that we can look at in the coming year.

Our membership fees have remained very low and we have maintained our membership numbers with approx. 70 – 80 members. It is important that members let the club secretary know if their contact details have changed, including email address as we have had several newsletters bounce back due to changes.

Despite the low fees our finances are healthy and slowly growing, thanks to the kind donations from a number of members for various fund raising events.

Finally the club would not have been able to prosper without the strong support and hard work of the many members who have taken on Executive and committee roles. We have always prided ourselves on being a friendly club and although at times not everyone has agreed, members have always been able to work together in a courteous and friendly manner for the good of the club.

The forthcoming year promises to be equally eventful; we are pleased to have engaged an overseas judge for our next Championship show which will be held on April 13th 2014 and hope to get a bigger and better entry.

Our new point score competition is well underway and already there are some promising youngsters coming through which will make it even more interesting.

In conclusion I would like to thank the Secretary Janelle Tremenheere, Treasurer Ashley Barber, Vice President, Dave Finch for their support throughout the year.

Thanks also to the committee members, Ros Finch, Jane Wistuba, Donna Murphy, Kerrie Taylor, Claire Parker for their hard work and support for the club.

From the Editor

We have had a busy time since the last newsletter- our 2012-2013 point score has concluded and a new one started, we have participated in Dogs on Show, we have had our AGM, gained approval for our 2014 Championship show judge and a number of members have been busy with some exciting new puppies.

To celebrate these puppies I have added extra photos of Griffon babies in all their cuteness. All this information and more in this newsletter

Secretary's Report (This is the report presented at the AGM)

The Club has had a very successful 2013 and it is fair to say this would not have been achievable without the help of our committee and club members.

We held our Inaugural Championship Show at Hillsborough Show Grounds with Shane Thomas as our judge. The show was a huge success with an entry of 50 Griffons. The trophy table was decorated in our club colours of purple and pink and looked fantastic. I would like to thank the show committee and club members who donated their time to help make this show a success and look forward to our 2014 Show.

We attended Dogs on Show at Erskine Park and our Breed stand decorated in pink and purple looked amazing. In particular the hay bales and the miniature sulky made the stand look very authentic and reminiscent of days gone by. The public were, as always smitten with our wonderful breed and it was nice to catch up with some of our pet owners.

Our Point Score competition for 2012-2013 was again very successful due to the large number of Griffons entered at these shows. We received positive comments from other exhibitors and judges were delighted to be judging such a large breed entry of Griffons. Club members should give themselves a pat on the back for their support at these shows. Congratulations to the winners and good luck to everyone for the 2013-2014 Point Score competition.

We have some exciting times ahead this year, our Championship Show will be held on 13 April 2014 and we have been fortunate to sign an overseas judge. The Sydney Royal will be held from 10 April to the 23 April with Griffon Bruxellois being judged on Thursday 10 April. We have been invited to attend the 2014 Sydney Pet & Animal Expo and we will be having a breed stand at Dogs on Show.

I would like to thank everyone for their support and invaluable contribution to our Club it has been a great year and I look forward to what next year will bring.

More Griffon Babies

Griffon Corner

Vale Brian Higgins Sad news from the UK regarding the death of Brian Higgins. He was the husband of Maureen Higgins and together they had the well known Jaydean Griffons, best known for their black roughs. He died on the, 14 August after suffering for some time with emphysema. He had long been an active member of the Northern Griffon Bruxellois Club, serving on the committee and he gave CCs in the breed. More recently he had been the one staying at home and caring for the Jaydean dogs whilst Maureen attended the shows. The funeral was held Friday 23 August at Pontefract Crematorium. He leaves Maureen, son Jason, daughter Louise and three grandchildren. We extend our deepest sympathy to Maureen and her family.

Congratulations to Terri Odell and her young girl Nagpuni

Midnight Mischief, who has been on a roll since she was in Baby Puppy classes. At the recent Spring International Shows at Hillsborough she was entered in 5 shows and won three 'Best Minor Puppy in group' and two 8 point challenges. Midnight is only 7 and a half months of age and already she has a total of seven classes in group. The two photos show Terri and Midnight with two of the international judges who awarded her the Minor in group awards.

Puppies- Entries at shows have been down a little lately as a number of people have had litters of puppies and have stayed at home to care for their babies. After very few litters last year it has been good to see a number of quality pups born.

Jannelle Tremenheere had her first ever litter for her new kennel prefix, Nevaending. Mother, NZ Ch Toi Toi Dance N Shout, produced two pups, a boy and a girl to Ch Balliol Gellert Grindalwald. Fiona Erskine of Ffire photography took this lovely photo of them at 5 weeks – amazing that they stayed still for long enough to take the photo.

Kerrie Taylor of Kehael Griffons has just recently had cause for celebration when her Black and Tan girl, Keheal Black Pearl successfully free whelped a litter of three, 2 girls and a boy, to Ch Cricklewood Night of Magic in Paris. At the time of writing they are not quite a week old but are drinking well and putting on weight and Kerrie tells me that Pearl is a very calm and contented mother. In the photo here you can see 3 very tiny new babies with their mother.

As I write I know that Ros and Dave Finch are anxiously awaiting the birth of the first litter from Annie, Rosndae Naughty but Nice, who has been mated to Ch Rosndae Charlie Brown.

Terri Odell has also had great success in Rally Obedience with her young Griffon, Coco- Nagpuni Coco Christobelle. On September 25th Coco achieved her third pass at Rally-O Novice & also her title at just under 11 months of age. Terri is now working on the steps and moves for Dancing with Dogs as Coco shows a real aptitude for this and has already mastered a number of positions including spins in both directions, weaving between legs, standing on her hind legs and turning, placing her front feet on Terri's feet and walking with her. Coco loves it and has a smile on her face the whole time.

The mother of Coco, Ch Nagpuni Brooklyn Babe CCD RA achieved her Rally-O Advanced Title on September 12th. This level of Rally Obedience is all off lead work. Terri writes A great achievement for a Griffon, Border Collies, German Shepherds & Poodles are the usually better suited breeds for these trials, so very proud of her. Obviously Brooklyn has passed her ability to her daughter.

These 2 photos show Brooklyn on her way to her title – flying Griffon!!

The New Zealand National Show has recently been conducted and the Best of Breed and Dog Challenge went to Cricklewood a Night in Paris owned and bred by club member Sandie Feaver and David and Julie Fifield and handled by Fern Feaver. Congratulations to everyone on a great result from the Junior class. Other results were:

|                                   |                                       |
|-----------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Runner Up BOB and Bitch Challenge | Yappenbach Burlesque – A Rowsell      |
| Reserve Challenge Dog             | Yappenbach Papparazzi – A Rowsell     |
| Reserve Bitch Challenge           | CH Hyjinx Life of Reillee – A Jenkins |

Terri and Grant Odell's daughter Kellie has been in the spotlight again at the race track. Kellie has been highly successful in the Fashions in the Field competitions at various races in both Australia and New Zealand. Her success is continuing as in the past month she has not only won at Cairns she has also won at the Newcastle Races and is soon to compete again at Rosehill.

Terri's son also competes and has had success as well and as you can see from the photo they scrub up well. We wish them luck in the future competitions.

We have a few members who have not been well over the past few months.

Marcia Mulhearn has been stricken with Helicobacter pylori (see pictured) which is a bacteria which gets into your stomach lining and eats it making you very sick. It is caused by a number of things such as eating food that is contaminated or by not washing hands and it can be passed on from cats and dogs etc. Poor Marcia who washes her hands constantly has somehow picked it up from somewhere and has had a 6 week battle on massive doses of antibiotics and other medications. She has now finished the medication and the Doctors are hoping her body will be able to continue to fight this very nasty bacteria. Our best wishes are with you Marcia.

Also on the sick list is Jackie Macdonald. Jackie and her husband Brian, were founding members of the club and have had some bad luck over the past few years with Brian requiring a hip replacement and Jackie suffering long term damage and multiple operations from a broken wrist. Now Jackie has been diagnosed with a more serious health worry and has recently begun treatment. We sincerely hope that the treatment is successful and Jackie is up and about as soon as possible.

Jane Wistuba has recently acquired a Chihuahua baby, who thinks he is a Griffon and she has been having some fun with him at shows recently. Paddy, (Cairnford Luck of the Irish) started his run of success with a first place in sweepstakes at the Spring International Shows at Hillsborough at the end of September. He topped it at Bathurst shows a week later when he won Baby in Group on day one and Baby In Show the next day. Jane's Griffon, Cider (Ch Raweke Apple Cider) was also shortlisted for Group on the same day so a very successful weekend.

Congratulations to CH Troubadour Pricklepants, owned by Diana Norman and Tim Mills and expertly prepared and handled by Kerrie and Emily Bell. He won Runner Up in Show at the ACT Toy Club Show on October 6th under Mr A Jones (Tas).

News from the UK- Howard Ogden has been a busy man. Fresh from judging at the Queensland Griffon club show he returned to the UK to also judge the Northern Griffon Bruxellois Club show at the end of September. The entry was 70+. Best in Show went to Millbone Ginger Bread co owned and handled by Steven Seymour. Alison Price had success with Liamford Eye Candy [the last pup bred by Samantha Burr before her early death] who won her 2nd CC and Res BIS, Ch Marquant The Heart Throb who won the Res DCC. Ffion Price won her 3rd Res BCC with her home bred Marquant Sweet Dream just out of the puppy class.

Liamford Eye Candy

Millbone Ginger Bread

The third shortlisted bitch was Ch Marquant In Your Dreams handled as usual by Lionel Prouve. Alison's new boy Marquant Love Me Tender aka Elvis at just 6 mths was at his first show and won Best Puppy in Show despite being very naughty.

Ch Marquant The Heart Throb

Laurie Tremenheere now has a bikie Griffon in the family. Apart from his Griffon, Novello, Laurie's other love is his big Triumph touring motorbike.

Novello now has his own enclosed basket strapped to the bike and when Laurie and Steph go riding Novello goes with them. He is one cool Griffon. He just needs his leathers and a helmet to complete the look.

Dogs on Show

The Dogs on Show day, showcasing purebred dogs to the public, was held in June along with a dog show, at Erskine Park.

Our club once again had a breed stand, colourfully decked out in our club colours of pink and purple.

Ros and Dave Finch had a miniature sulky which became the centrepiece display and Jane Wistuba brought along a number of bales of straw, to demonstrate how Griffons originated as stable dogs and graduated to travel on top of Hansom Cabs with the Brussels coachmen.

The club was able to sell a range of products donated by our members; Sue Brewin had donated handmade and painted ceramic Griffon items including door stops, decorations, figurines etc. Shirley Brien had knitted more colourful doggy jumpers which one person even purchased for her cat!

Some of the items for sale

We held a doggy product raffle with members donating various dog products including a soft bed, toys, bowls, food, jumpers etc. We had so many donations that we were able to make two prizes and the raffle was popular with the public providing some valuable fundraising.

As usual the Griffons attracted a lot of interest and Ros Finch had made some very glamorous coats in pink and purple for them to wear.

The club again participated in the Pageant of Breeds parade and Ros dressed her Griffons up as a Griffon coach driver and his lady passengers so that they could travel on the sulky in the parade.

Boston the coach driver and his elegant Griffon passengers

Boston the Coach driver

The parade saw a large number of Griffons and members all in pink and purple and they made an eye catching sight in the procession. The Griffons of course took it all in their stride and enjoyed the fuss and attention.

Because of the support we had from our members, we were able to show both rough and smooth

Griffons and also black and tans as well as reds.

The dog show that was also held on the day saw Ch Gellert Grindalwald win DCC and BOB and Rosndae Naughty but Nice win BCC and Runner Up BOB.

The atmosphere of the day was very relaxed and the weather was kind with warm sunshine, an improvement on the previous year's wet and cold day.

Thanks go to Ros and Dave Finch, Jane Wistuba, Marcia Mulhearn, Kerrie Taylor who came despite having been unwell and Janelle Tremenheere, for their help on the day.

Some more photos from the Dogs on Show Day.

Health – Cleft Palates

One of the fears that any breeder of Griffons has is that of having a puppy with a cleft palate. In most cases the new born pup has to be humanely put down immediately after birth and there is nothing more heartbreaking than having to put down a perfect little puppy due to a cleft palate. Only in a very limited number of cases can the pup be saved to go on and live a normal and functioning life.

There is much conjecture on the causes of Cleft palates and even vets cannot agree on this. Some believe that it is hereditary, others believe that there only a small element or inheritance and that there are many other factors which cause it. Certainly it is more common in breeds with a flatter face but clefts have also appeared in all different breeds with longer noses including Rhodesian Ridgebacks and PBGVs.

There has been a documented case of one particular mating of Pekinese which produced all cleft palate puppies. This exact same mating was repeated and produced 4 healthy pups with no cleft palates.

There are lines of dogs that have produced healthy pups with no cleft palates and then unexpectedly produce one.

This lack of consistency is one of the reasons why the causes cannot be specifically identified but it is believed that environment also plays a large part in this development.

The following article by Fred Lanting, taken from this website is very useful in discussing cleft palates and their causes. I hope it will be useful to breeders.

<http://www.lowchensaustralia.com/health/cleftpalate.htm>

BIRTH DEFECTS: CLEFT PALATE WHY AND WHEN

He conducts annual non-profit sightseeing tours of Europe, centred on the Sieger Show (biggest breed show in the world) and BSP. Check out his website: www.MrGSD.com*

I hope that you never have a litter with cleft palates. But if you do, this may explain the cause of at least some cases.

Let's start at the beginning, with a short review of the birds and the bees. The sperm cell, with half the chromosomes needed for a new pup (and a little less than half the DNA it will get) penetrates the ovum (egg) and triggers cell division, with the multiplying cells having the right number of chromosomes, and characteristics from both families. After a while, these cells are seen to start segregating some in groups that will later form intestines, some groups that will become heart tissues, others destined to end up as reproductive organs, etc.

It takes a while, so part of the way through the process, you might have a club whose members act alike for a time, but then, like Southern Baptists, split into splinter groups that become increasingly different from the cells whose division formed them. Some chromosomes in any one group go dormant, while others take over the job of activating the DNA and RNA that determine whether the cells are skin or hair cells, whether they express pigment, and a multitude of other inherited things. Chromosomes that deal with how a dog barks do not function in cells that make up the skin, even though all the chromosomes with their genes are in all the somatic body cells.

After the first few divisions of the fertilized egg, the mass is called an embryo. Like a seed or acorn that contains all the leaves, bark, roots, growth patterns, disease resistance, and more, the animal embryo can be thought of as the grown dog and its descendants in future tense.

In some lower animals, the segregation of tissues in the embryonic urogenital tract never is completed, the way we understand it in mammals, where the genitals are near but distinct from the urinary organs. You can think of them as having an interrupted or halted development compared to the higher animals.

However, the closer to the time of conception and early division, the less the differences in embryos of worms, frogs, Chihuahuas, water buffalos, and pterodactyls. The differences become apparent as the cell groups continue to specialize, which is an ongoing process up to and even after birth.

Sometimes something goes wrong during the embryonic development of structures on their way to completion. If development is halted or damaged, the part of the body that should be normal later, just isn't.

The example we are looking at here is the development of the central dorsal line of the body. Early embryos in that area look a little like flat worms or pancakes, and as they (we, too) grow, the edges curl or fold up and are supposed to unite along the top.

Ever make raviolis or apple tarts? You fold the edges of the pastry so that the filling is enclosed, and you pinch the dough together in order to fuse it and keep the contents from falling or leaking out, until you can bake it. The spinal cord is the ravioli filling, and the finished vertebral column is the baked shell. If the phone rings before you pinch the dough, and your darling toddler daughter puts the half-completed job into the oven and cooks them before you get back, the contents are exposed. A similar thing can happen in the moulding of the body if embryonic development is interrupted. Premature babies are at higher risk because some of them haven't finished the process of closure before they are popped into the oven known as the world outside of the womb. Incomplete frontal skull bones, spina bifida, and hemivertebra are examples of the defects that can occur along the dorsal midline.

Midline closure defects are expressed in a variety of ways; in German Shepherd Dogs, I have seen incomplete closure to the midline of the scalp, incompletely formed tails, skull defects, spina bifida, and cleft palates.

I believe them to be related in most cases. Sometimes other midline abnormalities are found; some would include umbilical hernias, and although they may be an embryo defect of another sort, I doubt those are related to the others.

Cleft lip (harelip) is probably caused at a different time during gestation than cleft palate or the other disorders named above. As we say in good obedience training and many other things, "Timing is everything."

What is a Cleft Palate

Cleft palate is a condition in which, for genetic and/or environmental reasons, the hard surface of the roof of the mouth and the softer palate behind it fail to close completely.

The first sign something is wrong (if you don't examine your pups immediately after delivery) is usually milk bubbling out the nose when the newborn attempts to nurse.

In addition to strictly genetic cause, there are numerous other cases of environmentally-mediated cleft palate.

- It is a frequent defect found in offspring of diabetics.
- It has been produced experimentally by vitamin A imbalance whether too much or too little

- It is often a result of poisons and steroids taken or produced by bitches in the first three weeks of gestation. Such corticosteroid production increase frequently can be associated with unsound character and/or a severe scare (fright).
- In canines, a deficiency of vitamin B-12 has also been identified as a cause.
- Antihistamines given early in pregnancy, at least in some doses, are also suspect.
- Viral infections at that stage, or certain other chemicals have also been determined to cause cleft palate.

I believe natural or synthetic hormones and steroids are potentially very dangerous if given to bitches during pregnancy; most of the time, cleft palate is a steroid caused birth defect. Cortisone and similar steroids can also facilitate spontaneous bleeding, which is more perilous during whelping and surgical convalescence than at other times.

Possible Problems In The First Three Weeks

While some deaths and other difficulties are genetically controlled or otherwise out of the breeder's power to prevent, many are avoidable if the midwife/pediatrician is knowledgeable and careful. Generally speaking, if you pay heed to the subjects of genetics, nutrition, sanitation, disease prevention, and management, you'll increase your chances for a normal, healthy, successful litter growing to adulthood.

Start with the bitch, for a healthy female will make for a healthy litter in most instances.

- Some drugs or excessive vitamin A administered during pregnancy have been identified as causing cleft palate, reduced litter size, mummified fetuses, and nervous system disorders, as well as eye, ear, and heart defects in the pups.
- Exposure to too much carbaryl (Sevin is the most common tradename) insecticide may produce deformities in intestines and abdominal-thoracic fissures; other insecticides may cause skeletal deformities in pups if the pregnant bitch has been exposed to very high levels.

Be sensible in your use of these, and your dam will likely be safe. A friend of mine tragically dosed his bitch with 10% Sevin dust (the concentration used for garden pests) instead of far less of the 5% dust used for fleas and ticks, when she was newly delivered of a litter of pups. It killed both her and all of the puppies. It was the wrong time to use it, and he used far too much.

During the first week of a pup's life, the combination of the dam's carelessness and failure to lactate account for the greatest losses in neonatal deaths, and the latter may be partly due to the breeder's carelessness in the area of sanitation and prevention of infection.

Statistically speaking, the less common causes of death in that first week include cleft palates, which are probably found in less than 3 percent. Such pups either are euthanized on the second day or die soon after from aspiration pneumonia due to the milk they suck going through the nasal passages into the lungs.

Harelip is a split in the front portion of the palate, extending up the centre of the front lip between where the middle incisors would later come in, and as far as the nose bulb in most cases. It is caused by a disruption in the embryo development at a slightly different time than cleft palate is.

Sometimes, if the psycho-biochemical disruption has continued for a longer period of time than an instantaneous trauma, you may find both conditions in the same pups. You may have met people with both. Although it is surgically treatable in humans, it is not, or at least is not worth the effort, in dogs.

Brief Selections from Case Histories

Several years ago an Ohio dog club member had a small litter of puppies born with cleft palates. One puppy had the cleft palate alone, another had the malformed lip/mouth, and another puppy was born with all its internal organs outside its body. This is an instance of where midline closure defect is expressed on the ventral portion of the dog as well. All pups in the litter died.

She found out, through some detective work, that it was due to a chemical ingested or inhaled. Nothing in her house or yard would have caused this and so she asked around the neighbourhood if anyone sprayed any yard chemicals (pesticides, insecticides, herbicides). Nobody did, or at least in her neighbourhood.

She finally figured out that when she was visiting her son at a new neighbourhood park that her dog had been exposed to chemicals sprayed on the grass, and she then found out that a neighbour of his across the street had in fact had the famous-name company spray their yard, but took the flags down as soon as they were finished. So her dog was exposed to the lawn chemicals by absorption through the very porous pads as well as possibly by inhaling for a day or two. This was at the critical point in her pregnancy and pups' embryo development when this exposure would most likely cause this problem. The first trimester is the time of greatest risk.

I once bred a bitch who was hard as nails to a great show dog named Hein, noted for pigment and hips, and my litter had one somewhat flighty, spooky bitch pup whose temperament characteristics did not immediately show themselves.

When that bitch grew up, the owners bred her. During the first trimester, this bitch had a sudden and traumatic fright. Even though it lasted only a few minutes, and her nervousness was at a peak for a few hours or more, the repercussions followed at parturition. Her litter all were born with cleft palates. A couple had harelip as well. All were euthanized. She never had any pups with cleft palate afterwards. The male that I bred my bitch to was of normal temperament, but produced more than his share of nervous offspring. One all-black son of his, bred by the owners and named Phantom, produced many spooky pups and a great deal more were produced by his offspring, in turn.

Such changes from the norm of midline closure are possible through that psychophysical route, such as a bitch in that stage of pregnancy being badly frightened or startled. Her own hormonal chemicals act the same way that administered steroids could. Of course, the always-flighty or nervous bitch is far more susceptible to such an unusual event than a stable bitch is.

When I had mentioned this observation in a magazine article, someone wrote to me- "How could that theory account for the marked association of facial cleft with brachycephaly?"

Short-faced bitches are more nervous and flighty perhaps? Or could it be genetic, I wonder!

No, as I had written, there are more causes than this one.

Nervous temperament can be and usually is very strongly genetic, as would be any unusual or "touchy" reaction to steroidal imbalance. Plus, brachycephalic dogs, however lovely in the eyes of owners, are short-faced because of abnormal pituitary/hypophysis glands. This "master gland" affects all other endocrine glands and all hormones, directly or indirectly including those that affect cleft palate.

Perhaps the defect that causes a Bulldog face with pushed-in nose and undershot jaw is side-by-side with the defect that directly or indirectly interferes with normal midline closure in the embryo just before birth or earlier in gestation.

Although kennel-blind fanciers of Lhasa Apsos and other short-faced breeds have claimed that this opinion is not supported by anything we know about endocrinology or genetics, I have studied enough biology and genetics to disagree.

It is generally assumed that the growth patterns such as shape of head (some breeds such as Saints, Newfies, etc. retaining "juvenile" looks) are related to the function of the pituitary/hypophysis, and growth hormones interacting with other hormones. I learned a long time ago that the pituitary/hypophysis of breeds with Pug/Peke/Bulldog-type faces are physically different than those in breeds with "ancestral" type heads (GSDs, wolves, Malamutes, Spitz, etc.)

I leave it up to the naysayers to come up with a better explanation as to why these brachycephalic breeds have the look of a dog that ran 35 mph into a brick wall.

A Westie breeder wrote to me: "We also one time had a whole litter of clefts. There was no history of clefts in either the line of the dog or the bitch. In fact, we had bred both sire and dam previously with no clefts at all. We spoke to various veterinarians about this. And they determined it was from a viral infection that I had when the puppies were in the critical period of gestation"

Could be- Environmental irregularities can make for somatic irregularities. That same correspondent later wrote, Thank you! This explains the cleft palate puppy we had last year after our two bitches got into a fight. Dusty was at the critical time for palate development. And my other bitch lost her whole litter! Hormones! Ugh!

To avoid midline closure defects, there are several steps you should take.

- Naturally, the first is to be careful about your choice of breeding pairs.
- After insuring the genetic component as much as feasible, make sure that the environment is one that promotes good health and avoids toxins and psychological traumas. Don't let your bitch roam, especially during the first 3 weeks of pregnancy. Make sure you do everything to favour full-term gestation.
- If you have brachycephalic (especially toy) breeds such as Pekes, Pugs, Bulldogs, Bostons, and the like, research the ancestors and siblings for any problems before you breed your own dog.

CAUSES OF CONGENITAL CLEFT PALATE

There are several possible causes for congenital cleft palate:

Genetic cause

An hereditary basis for the disease is suspected for congenital clefts but the mechanism has not yet been determined. Any such genetic trait is thought to be multifactorial recessive, polygenic and dominant with partial penetration.

Excess vitamin A intake during pregnancy

In 1967 Wiersig and Swenson reported that 125,000 IU of Vitamin A per kilogram body weight given to Beagle bitches on days 17-22 of gestation resulted in cleft palate developing in their puppies.

Vitamin A is an essential nutrient for normal growth and defects in bone growth are seen with insufficient as well as excessive dietary intake. Vitamin A has a controlling influence over both the osteoblasts and osteoclasts in epithelial cartilage and so there is a rational explanation as to why excessive vitamin A intake might result in cleft palate.

In addition, commercially prepared complete pet foods contain more than sufficient available vitamin A yet breeders and owners frequently supplement their pet's ration with vitamin supplements

High vitamin A content is also a feature of many natural food sources including liver and fish oils. Cod liver oil is a very popular nutritional supplement with pet owners and it contains 18000mg per 100ml (4000 IU per gram). Some vitamin injections contain as much as 500,000 IU of vitamin A per ml.

Cortisone

Administration of cortisone during pregnancy can lead to the development of cleft palate in the fetus

Hydroxyurea

Administration of the cytotoxic drug hydroxyurea (hydroxycarbamide) is reported to cause cleft palate.

Acquired cleft palate is common following falls from a height, and less commonly following road traffic accidents.

Cleft Palate or Cleft Lip Complex, Occlusal Anomalies, Tongue Anomalies

Cleft Palate or Cleft Lip (Harelip) Complex: This is due to a disturbance of the processes that form the jaw and face during embryonic development. Cleft of the lower lip is rare and usually occurs on the midline. Clefts of the upper lip, usually at the junction of the premaxilla and maxilla, may be unilateral or bilateral, complete or incomplete, and often are associated with clefts of the alveolar process and palate. The defect may also involve the palate alone.

Developmental anomalies affecting other organ systems can occur in ~8% of affected dogs and cats. The defect commonly occurs with other defects in large animals as well, such as arthrogryposis, which is inherited in a simple autosomal recessive manner in Charolais cattle.

In small animals, incidence is higher in the Beagle, Cocker Spaniel, Dachshund, German Shepherd Dog, Labrador Retriever, Schnauzer, Shetland Sheepdog, and Siamese cats.

Brachycephalic breeds can have up to a 30% risk factor.

In large animals, cleft palate/lip complex has been reported in cattle, sheep, goats, and horses. The primary etiology is hereditary, although maternal nutritional deficiencies, drug or chemical exposure, mechanical interferences with the fetus, and some viral infections during pregnancy have also been implicated.

Ingestion of toxic agents may also play a role; for example, ingestion of lupines ( Lupinus sericeus and L. caudatus ) during the second and third months of gestation in cattle can potentially result in "crooked calf disease," of which cleft abnormalities may be a component.

Initial signs include difficulty suckling, dysphagia, and evidence of milk dripping from the nostrils when the newborn attempts to nurse. Respiratory infection due to aspiration of food is common and a grave consequence with a poor prognosis. Examination of the oral cavity generally readily reveals the defect, except in foals having only a cleft of the soft palate that may be difficult to see.

Care of Cleft palate offspring

Initial management requires intensive nursing care, including hand or tube feeding to ensure daily nutritional and caloric requirements are met, as well as the occasional need for appropriate antimicrobial therapy to treat for secondary infections of the rhinarium or lower respiratory tract.

Surgical correction is effective only if the defect is small and is usually done at ~6-8 wk of age in small animals, before their general health is compromised. Various surgical techniques, ranging from simple closure to the need for sliding grafts or prosthetic implants, are used, depending on the severity and location of the defect.

More severely affected animals may require multiple surgeries for successful correction. Surgical repair should be attempted only after ethical questions have been addressed, and the affected animal should be surgically sterilized or removed from breeding stock to prevent reproducing the anomaly in future offspring.

Occlusal Anomalies: Brachygnathia (overshot, short lower jaw, or parrot mouth in horses) is manifest when the mandible is shorter relative to the maxilla. It can be found to varying severity and incidence in all species of animals.

In cattle, it is inherited as a polygenetic factor and can be associated with other anomalies such as impacted molar teeth and osteopetrosis ( Osteopetrosis) in Angus calves and Simmental cattle, or with chromosomal aberrations such as trisomy, which is lethal.

In small animals, mild forms may be of no clinical significance; however, more severe forms may result in trauma to the hard palate or the restriction of normal mandibular growth secondary to erupting adult mandibular canine teeth. Diagnosis is through careful oral examination.

Treatment varies from none to various orthodontic or endodontic procedures, depending on severity. In small animals, the mandibular canine teeth are often removed or shortened, with concurrent pulpotomy or root canal.

A range of occlusal defects in sheep, from brachygnathia to mandibular aplasia and agnathia, is reportedly inherited as a simple autosomal recessive. Craniofacial dysplasia of Limousin cattle is characterized by a convex profile of the nose, short lower jaw, deficient ossification of frontal sutures, exophthalmus, and a large tongue; it is thought to be due to homozygosity of a simple autosomal recessive gene.

Prognathia (undershot, or monkey or sow mouth in horses) is found when the mandible is longer relative to the maxilla. It is identified on oral examination by finding the mandibular incisors in contact with or rostra to the maxillary incisors.

In brachycephalic dogs and Persian cats, it is considered a normal breed characteristic. Despite being seen to varying degrees, it rarely requires any specific treatment.

Tongue Anomalies: Ankyloglossia or microglossia refers to incomplete or abnormal development of the tongue. It is often referred to as “bird tongue” in dogs and may be a component of the fading puppy syndrome. Affected puppies have difficulty nursing and do poorly. Oral examination reveals missing or underdeveloped lateral and rostral thin portions of the tongue that result in prehensile and motility disturbances. It is generally lethal.

The Queensland Griffon Club Championship Show

The Queensland Griffon Club held their second Championship show on August with well UK Griffon breeder and Judge, Howard Ogden presiding. The entry I believe was 64. The Championship show was preceded by the Open show judged by Mr A Addicott.

I was unable to attend this year but everyone who attended reported a highly successful show.

Exhibitors praised the friendly and relaxed atmosphere and the supportive behaviour and sportsmanship of all the exhibitors.

The weather was perfect and the trophy table was impressive and the presentation by Howard Ogden after the show was of the high standard we would expect from a knowledgeable judge.

One of the interesting aspects of the presentation was when Howard Ogden lined all his

Class in Show winners up and then discussed his reasons for his placings, referring to the breed standard as he did so.

This was a valuable opportunity for exhibitors to understand the workings of a judge's mind and it was also useful not only for the exhibitors but also for the large number of other non- Griffon guests, many of whom were judges who wanted to gain a better understanding of the breed

Although many of NSW the exhibitors were unable to attend due to the arrival of puppies, a number of our club members were still successful at both shows including our Patron, Jocelyn Croad who won Best in Show at the Open show with Ch Nouveau Demonstrance and Diana Norman who won Runner up in Show with Ch Troubadour Pricklepants.

Other successful members were Terri Odell – Best Minor in show at the Open show, Liz Hollingshed Best Minor in Show at the Championship show, B Canavan Opposite Minor in both Shows

Liz Hollingshed with Miss Tessie Gilbert

My thanks to Sandie Feaver who supplied the show photographs. I do not have a photo of either of the BIS winners)

Golden Oldies

Our Golden Oldie this edition is one of my favourite boys, NZ Ch and Aust Ch Paris Night Fever, owned and bred by Sandie Feaver in New Zealand.

Hunter is now 12 years old and is still the dignified and handsome boy he always was.

He has his own little quirks, he likes to sit in corners and watch the world go by and he is always laid back and unruffled by events.

He still comes out to strut his stuff in the veterans class at some special shows – just to show the youngsters how it is done but most of the time he is the number one dog at home and presides over the rest of the Paris gang. And every now and then he still sires some very lovely children– no wonder he is smiling.

Sydney Royal Draft schedule for next Easter.

Griffons will be judged by Frank Kane (UK) on Thursday 10th April - 3 days before the Country Griffon Club of NSW Championship show which will be on Sunday 13th April.

Mr Kane is a very well respected and experienced UK judge who has judged at major shows all around the world. He has also judged Best in Show at Crufts. The draft timetable is now posted on the Sydney Royal website. Please note that there could still be some minor changes over the next few weeks. This will hopefully only be with the allocation of judges rather than switching a day for a breed. ## 2012 – 2013 Point Score Competition

The last Point score competition saw a total of 22 dogs owned by club members compete. At a number of shows there were also dogs competing owned by non- club members but these dogs have not been counted in the point score results as it is only open to members.

The point score was very well supported by members with between 17 and 25 dogs entered in the designated point score shows. These entries are in contrast to the non- point score shows which usually only drew an entry of between 0 – 5 Griffons. The judges who received these large entries often commented on how nice it was to see so many Griffons.

The top ten dogs are detailed below, followed by a complete printout of the Point score placings.

The winner of the point score by a very clear margin with 101 points, was Ch Balliol Gellert Grindalwald, owned by Jannelle Tremeneheere and Michelle Parker Brien and expertly prepared and handled by Jannelle . This was a repeat of Dumbledore's win of the previous year. On his way to his point score win Dumbledore also won one Runner Up In Group and three Intermediate in Group awards.

In second place was Dumbledore's sister Ch Balliol Gertie Giggles, owned by Michelle Parker Brien with 54 points which also included two Intermediate in Group wins.

Third place went to Ch Cricklewood Night of Magic in Paris (imp NZ) bred by Sandie Feaver and David Fifield and owned by Ashleigh Barber and Michelle Parker Brien. Neville is expertly handled by Ashleigh. He has 47 points and won two Class in group awards. Neville was also the winner of the Puppy Point score competition with 44 points.

Fourth place was

Ch Rosndae Ginger Snap, competing in the Neuter class. Bred by Ros and Dave Finch, he is owned and shown by Kerrie Taylor. Due to ill health, Kerrie has not been able to show as often as she would like but Bosley still managed to collect 38 points including two Neuter in Group awards.

Ch Rosndae Ginger Snap

The next few placings were very close with only one point separating each dog, making for a very close competition

Fifth place went to Ch Raweke Patti Mae CCD, also competing in the Neuter class with 33 points. Patti was bred by Jocelyn and Eddie Croad and owned by Michelle Parker Brien. At almost 7 years of age she still loves showing and trots around the ring like a little clockwork toy. She won two Neuter in Group awards.

2013 – 2014 Point Score Competition

The new Point Score is underway and there have been 3 point score shows so far. Entries have been down due to a number of people who have been whelping litters and staying home to care for Mum and the babies, however we have still managed to draw between 10 and 16 dogs at each show. The shows that do not offer Neuter as a class also miss out on a number of entries as a number of exhibitors regularly show their Neuter Griffons.

In 2014 we will hopefully see some of these promising puppies in the ring and the numbers exhibited will increase to our usual size.

The first point score show was The North of the Harbour Show at the end of July. Best of Breed and Dog Challenge winner was Ch Raweke Apple Cider (Jane Wistuba).

Runner Up BOB and Res DCC was Ch Balliol Gellert Grindalwald (Janelle Tremenheere).

Bitch Challenge was the young Black and tan rough girl Keheal Luna Lovegood (J Tremenheere)

Res BCC went to Ch Paris Starry Starry Night (J Wistuba)

The second Point Score show was The Spring Fair Saturday 31st August.

The Judge was Mr F Ruiz Rodrigues (Spain) who had his own method of judging. BOB and DCC was Ch Troubadour Pricklepants owned by S Stewart & D Norman. He was also shortlisted for Best In Group and went on to win Intermediate in Group under Mrs E Wogan (Ireland).

Runner up BOB & Res DCC was Ch Raweke Apple Cider owned by J Wistuba & M Parker Brien.

BCC was Ch Balliol Gertie Giggles (M Parker Brien).

The judge did not allow the 2nd place getter in Intermediate (Ch Paris Starry Starry Night) to re-enter the ring for the Res BCC and it was awarded to Tzani Rhoda Dendron (E & K Bell).

The third point score show was held on the 28th September at The Lake Macquarie ABKC, part of the International Spring Spectacular. The Judge was Mrs J Hodgkinson (Canada)

Best of Breed & Dog CC was Ch Cricklewood Night of Magic in Paris (A Barber), handled here by C Parker

Runner Up BOB & res Dog CC was Ch Raweke Apple Cider (J Wistuba) who has been very consistent in this competition.

Bitch CC was Nagpuni Midnight Mischief (T Odell) from the Minor class and she also went Minor in Group

Res Bitch CC was Keheal Luna Lovegood ( J Tremenheere).

After 3 point score shows the results are mixed and it is good to see a number of new dogs emerging from the ranks to add spice to the competition.

As at 1st October-the results are as follows -

- 1st Ch Raweke Apple Cider 26 points,
- 2nd Nagpuni Midnight Mischief -21 points,
- 3rd Ch Troubadour Pricklepants- 15 points,
- 4th Ch Cricklewood Night of Magic in Paris 13 points
- 5th Keheal Luna Lovegood - 11pts
- 6th place - a 3 way tie - all on 10 points. They are:

- Ch Balliol Gellert Grindalwald
- Ch Paris Starry Starry Night
- Ch Raweke Patti Mae CCD

Just let me get that shoelace!!
