President's Report

Hello members,

Well there is not much to report with the COVID19 around as many things as you know have come to a halt including the dog world.

We have made arrangements in case the November shows can proceed but at this time we are not sure, we are in contact with Dogs Victoria and they are unclear as to a time line, so we just have to wait for Daniel Andrews to let us off lock down .

Once the rules are relaxed we will try and get something organized for the members but it will be done by the rules of the COVID19 .

At this time we just have to sit tight keep safe and thank our dogs for their clownish behavior to keep us amused. I'm sure many of you, like myself, have pulled their hair out with home schooling kids, roll on getting them back to school.

Until we know more about the shows starting up or being able to have more than 5 people together we just have to keep ourselves safe.

Best wishes

Alison Sutcliffe

President

Secretaries Report

Hi All,

Well 2020 has been an awful year for some, but I have actually found the Coronavirus lock down to be one of the best things that ever happened to me. For the last few months, I've been working from home (something I have dreamed of for years) the dogs are getting walked, I am getting two more hours sleep a night, no more train fees, commuting or before/after school care fees! I'll admit the home schooling of a prep has been challenging but has also been a great opportunity for me to engage with my daughter's learning. I've only just gotten into the swing of it and now they are going back in two weeks, typical!

One thing I am most grateful for, is that I finally have time to address an issue with one of my dogs. At around six months she started to develop aggressive behavior towards several other dogs in my house, and any dog that eyed her off in the show ring or the vet waiting area or out on a walk.

When you have an aggressive bull terrier, you know the damage they can do, and the potential for a redirection of aggression towards the owner is real. Going to the vet I had to request a clear pathway from the front door to the consultation room. I became progressively more anxious at dog shows and even when I had someone else handle her, I was having a panic attack. I stopped taking her for walks, and slowly, her life became confined to my property and not getting to experience what the others were experiencing. With such a sweet nature towards people, it was really sad where we had ended up.

Having referred many people to "The Dog Bloke" due to word of mouth from the Amstaff club and some other bully breeders, I got him out for an assessment. He diagnosed fear aggression and believes the prognosis is good for her. The prognosis is good for me also! The great thing about this training is not only will it help her, but it will help me. I will learn to predict/manage and be less anxious myself about what might happen because I will have control over the situation and a tool kit to help me.

Homework for the week was teaching this show dog to sit + stand + and lay down in that sequence, without a verbal command. Called a "Puppy Pushup", for some of my bull terriers, this would be challenging (I have one that took 4 years to learn how to shake hands). Fortunately this is the smartest bull terrier I have ever seen. She nailed it in three days (6 ten minute sessions). We are now learning to accept the pressure lead, very similar to a show lead but with a loop around her nose, like a halti. Designed to apply pressure on the nose when the dog is reacting or stepping in front of you at the walk, it works like magic. Muzzle training is also required (let's not talk about the awkward fit) but the intention is to get her ready to attend de-sensitization classes run at the training facility. This is where they can learn to be calm with a bunch of other crazy dogs and traumatized owners in a safe and accepting place. I can't wait and hope I can report on our success!

Before I go – just a note, if you are a registered breeder and member and expecting a litter this year and wish me to refer people to you, please let me know. I could have sold 1000 puppies in the last month, it is ridiculous!

Cheers Deb

A few months ago when I tried to order a new box of 2x2 baked dog biscuits from the greyhound supplier I was horrified to learn that the company were no longer operating. Unable to buy biscuits in bulk anywhere, I decided I should probably try and make my own. Aside from the shortage of flour recently, I did have lots of old flour to use up.

The recipe below is a base recipe but you can add all sorts of things.

Dog Biscuit Recipe (Base)

4 cups of flour (you can vary it with wholemeal/rye/plain)

2 cups of shredded cheese

¼ cup oil

Up to 1 and a 1/3 cup of water.

Method

Combine Flour cheese and oil and add sufficient water to form a stiff dough.

Roll out to about half a cm thickness and cut to shape or use cookie cutters.

Bake for 2 and a half to 3 hours on 120 degrees C (check on them towards the end to ensure no burning). This will ensure biccies turn out super crunchy just as our dogs like them.

Variations: You could add lots of things to this recipe, just adjust your water content as necessary to ensure the dough is firm. Grated vegies (carrot/sweet potato/broccoli stalks etc) peanut butter, you could try stock instead of water and add herbs as well.

I have found these biccies last quite a while in a sealed container, generally a couple of weeks and the dogs love them.

Treasurers Report

Hi members, well, what a upside down time for everyone including our club with COVID19 about, I trust all our members are looking after themselves.

Obviously our plans for our shows and bullywalks changed greatly this year, with also the cancellation of our May 2020 shows in which we were to celebrate our 45th birthday.

We are in the loop with Dogs Victoria on future shows and always discussing as to whether we can hold shows this year. We are hoping to be able to hold our big November weekend this year with a all Australian judging panel and we can then celebrate our 45th birthday as well as have Dr Richard Woolley present to perform doppler testing.

Keep an eye on our facebook page for further details that arise.

The clubs finances have not changed greatly due to our club not holding any functions.

Members please remember memberships are due and you will find a membership form at the back of the newsletter, your memberships enable our club to further provide services to members and enables our club to be a important advocate for the Bull Terrier breed in Victoria and Australia with important legislation, so please get your memberships in to our Secretary, renewals can be paid via internet banking/transfer with a reference surname and membership, the membership form can then be emailed to our club Secretary.

Hoping to get our breed together soon

Chrissy Cook.
